Dear Vacancy Committee:

I am writing in support of Janelle Rettig for the current opening on the Johnson County Board of Supervisors.

Janelle had announced her candidacy for a seat on the Board in next year's election before the death of her friend, Larry Meyers, and it seems wise to appoint her now.

Although she lives in Iowa City, Janelle's interests and experience dealing with issues such as conservation, trails, family farm preservation, etc. demonstrate her strong commitment to rural constituents. She has a wide and varied background that will serve her well on the Board.

What impresses me most about Janelle is her dedication and hard work. She will study carefully all issues that come before the Board and will treat everyone with respect and genuine interest.

Seldom do we have such a talented and intelligent person run for public office. Johnson County would be fortunate to have Janelle as a Supervisor. I strongly urge your serious consideration of her candidacy.

Thank you for taking on this responsibility.

Sincerely,
